Lauren Bacall (here, circa 1950) once said, "I just don't like to doll up for my own admiration."

THE GODDE

Everything old is new again! Today's stars stun in Lauren Bacall's classic long white gown

Hard to believe more than 70 years have passed since Lauren Bacall wooed us (and Humphrey Bogart!) with her famous pout and husky voice in To Have and Have Not. She continued to seduce the world, without revealing much skin, in high-waisted trousers and billowy blouses. "Lauren demystified high fashion with uncomplicated pieces that were elegant and sexy yet approachable," says Cameron Silver, fashion director of QVC's H by Halston.

As Lauren once said: "You have to find what's good for you — what you feel the best in and what you look the best in." And today's stars are heeding her advice by donning her most famous style, the goddess gown, down the red carpet. "The floor-length dress' hour-glass-enhancing design — long vertical pleats, cinched waist and low neckline — flatter every age and size," says Silver. "And white imparts an ethereal glow on all skin tones."

Meryl Streep, 67

Perfect for over-50 beauties, the loose pleat-free silhouette of the Oscar winner's Lanvin gown seamlessly drapes over trouble spots, and its deep V-neck tastefully spotlights the décolletage. Diamond-encrusted clasps are an elegant touch and pull the eye inward to whittle the waist.
